Overview

Could Huawei's new battery technology make EVs go further?

Huawei has developed solid-state battery tech that could make EVs go further and charge faster. Cells have triple the energy-density of li-ion ones and could theoretically give an 1,800-mile range. Chinese patent application says the new battery pack could be fully recharged in only five minutes.

Is Huawei developing a solid-state battery?

According to the patent, Huawei is developing a solid-state battery architecture with an energy density between 400 and 500 Wh/kg—reportedly three times higher than that of conventional lithium-ion cells used in today's electric vehicles.

What is Huawei's new EV battery?

Smartphone giant and EV investor Huawei has challenged CATL and BYD's supremacy by inventing a pioneering new battery that blends an incredible range of up to 3000km with a charging time of just five minutes.

What is Huawei's big battery breakthrough?

Huawei's huge battery breakthrough! New solid state tech promises massive range and miniscule charging times Smartphone giant and EV investor Huawei has challenged CATL and BYD's supremacy by inventing a pioneering new battery that blends an incredible range of up to 3000km with a charging time of just five minutes.

What is Huawei lithium battery?

Equipment with IP65 degree of protection, 10 years warranty with maximum output power of 2.5 kWh and up to 3.5kWh transiently. The Huawei lithium battery operates at 360V for single-phase systems and 600V for three-phase systems. Huawei lithium battery ensures the energy storage of the solar system in a safe and efficient way.

Will Huawei's solid-state battery chemistry change EV usability?

Like Toyota, VW, BMW, Stellantis and other big players in the tech and automotive space, Huawei has spent the last few years working on solid state batteries, which most experts agree will bring a step-change in EV usability. And this month Huawei filed a Chinese patent for solid-state battery chemistry that comes with some bold claims.
