Are solar panels a good investment in South Carolina?

Solar energy has numerous environmental benefits, and adding solar panels can save South Carolinians thousands on energy bills and increase their home value. South Carolina residents can also qualify for state and federal solar tax credits and local utility incentives and rebates, which can offset the costs of solar panels.

Is Palmetto solar a good choice?

Palmetto Solar is best for households who want more equipment choices when installing their solar system. In addition to panels, Palmetto also offers solar backup batteries, electric vehicle (EV) chargers, maintenance and repair. You can choose to pay for your panels outright, finance your panels with a solar loan or opt for a PPA or lease.
