Will recycling give plastic to-go containers a new life?

Related: Unfortunately, the outcome isn't as rosy as many people think; recycling is unlikely to give plastic to-go containers new life, said John Hocevar, a marine biologist with Greenpeace USA. Of all the waste produced in 2017, only 8.4% of it eventually got recycled, according to the Environmental Protection Agency.

What is a to-go container?

To-go containers are simple and cost-effective solutions for restaurants offering takeout, curbside, or delivery service. They come in a range of sizes and shapes, allowing operators to find the perfect container for packaging items like salad, soup, pasta, pizza, burgers, rice, and more.
